

Grammar

The way to form questions depends on the information you want. The three common types of questions are yes/no questions, information questions, and tag questions.

1 Yes / no questions and short answers

You can answer these question forms with yes or no.

With to be, the verb goes at the beginning of the question.

verb	subject
Is	Amanda	A teacher?
Are	cars	cheap?

When the verb is not be and consists of only one word, we use a form of the word do and the infinitive without to.

do	subject	verb
Does	Jason	work	in accounting?
Did	you	arrive	on time?

When the verb contains an auxiliary or modal verb and a main verb, the auxiliary or modal verb goes at the beginning of the question.

aux verb	subject	verb
Is	David	sailing	Today?
Can	Becky	bake	Cookies?
Has	Rika	worked	in advertising?
