

Listening Comprehension

Listen carefully while the teacher reads the following radio announcement.

This is Dr. Sara Sanchez on WKLI's afternoon, My Good Health Program, for the next 30 minutes. Wherever you are, stuck in a rush hour traffic jam, sunning yourself next to the swimming pool, or just resting at home, sit back and relax while I give advice on how to keep up your good health. Today I would like to talk about a simple diagnosis for strokes that any person can conduct. There are three steps. Ask the person to smile. Secondly, see if they can hold their hands above their head. And lastly, see if they can repeat a tricky sentence. If they can't do these three things, take the person to the hospital immediately. It may save their life. And now for a word from our advertisers.

You can see the whole lesson from your teacher, please ask them to send it to you before the class.
