

The Post Office and the Bank

On Thursday Anita went to the post office and to the bank.

The post office is usually a very busy place. There are usually many people waiting in line. They all want to do different things. Some people want to buy stamps. Some people want to send packages.

Anita needed to buy some stamps and to send a package. At the post office she talks to the clerk. The clerk was very helpful. It is her Mother's birthday soon. She bought some stamps for her mother's birthday card. She bought her mother a present and sent it in a package. She bought her Mom a cookbook. Anita hopes her Mom likes the card and present.

You can see the whole lesson from your teacher, please ask them to send it to you before the class.
