

Hands Off the Wheel

Image courtesy of suphakit73 / FreeDigitalPhotos.net

Reading

Driverless cars may be the next revolution in the automobile world. Several car manufacturers already have self-navigating prototypes. Fewer young people in urban environments buy cars nowadays, but manufacturers hope the new technology will encourage them to change their purchasing habits. This is because driverless cars would allow people to concentrate on their smartphones or their work while on the move. Manufacturers also believe that driverless cars would result in fewer accidents than when humans are behind the wheel.

You can see the whole lesson from your teacher, please ask them to send it to you before the class.

テキスト全文はレッスン受講時に担当講師よりお受け取りください。