

Crocodiles Can Climb

Friday February 14, Orlando (Reuters) - When most people go into crocodile territory, they keep a lookout for crocodiles in the water or on the land. But now researchers say people should look up. Researchers say crocodiles can climb trees.

Researchers studied crocodiles in Australia, Africa and North America. They saw crocodiles climbing as high as 6 feet off the ground. University of Tennessee researcher, Vladimir Dinets, says he received stories of crocodiles climbing almost 30 feet.

You can see the whole lesson from your teacher, please ask them to send it to you before the class.

テキスト全文はレッスン受講時に担当講師よりお受け取りください。