

Prepositions: Since and For

---

Since

Since is used to give the starting point of actions or events that continue up to the moment of speaking. It is a point in time (June, 1976, etc.)

Example:

We haven't seen him since his birthday.

We haven't played soccer since May.

For

We use 'for' to talk about a period of time continuing up to the present. It is used with length of time (e.g. four years, two months)

Example:

Ken has studied English for two months.

Barnie hasn't come to school for two days.

You can see the whole lesson from your teacher, please ask them to send it to you before the class.
